

SPOTLIGHT

Featuring Ian Dawson's Henri and Henrietta

- Step 1: Learn about the Spotlight work of art.
- Step 2: See it in real life on your own or on a tour.
- Step 3: Brainstorm your project.
- Step 4: Make something that reflects your ideas.
- Step 5: Exhibit it at the McNay!

Ian Dawson, Henri and Henrietta, 2004. Polyethylene. Collection of the McNay Art Museum, Gift of Jereann and Holland Chaney, 2019.61. © Ian Dawson

Spotlight Learning Outcomes

- Creativity
- Flexible thinking
- Cooperation
- Communication

But also...

- Friendship
- Respect
- Self-confidence
- Love of the arts

Ian Dawson, Henri and Henrietta

- Ian Dawson (born 1969) is a London-based contemporary artist.
- Made in 2004, the artist references themes of entropy, waste, and transformation.
- Dawson sources a wide range of found plastic objects, including waste bins from parks and playgrounds.
- In addition to sculpture, Dawson expresses himself through drawing, collage, and digital media.
- Fun fact: Henri and Henrietta once belonged to the singer George Michael.

theMcNay

Spotlight Brainstorm

Art Observations

Medium

Campus Issues/Priorities

Other Goals

Project Ideas

Final Project

